The Archdiocese of Indianapolis

The Diocese of Vincennes (now Indianapolis) was established by decree of Gregory XVI, May 6, 1834, and the See was fixed at Vincennes. The territory then comprised the entire State of Indiana and the eastern part of Illinois. The latter was separated from the Diocese of Vincennes by the erection of the Diocese of Chicago, November 28, 1843.

By a decree of Pius IX, January 8, 1857, the northern half of the State was erected into the Diocese of Fort Wayne, the boundaries being that part of the State north of the south lines of Fountain, Montgomery, Boone, Hamilton, Madison, Delaware, Randolph, and Warren Counties. The southern half of the State remained the Diocese of Vincennes. It embraced fifty counties in Indiana, covering 18,479 square miles, with a population, according to U. S. Census of 1950, of 1,505,527. It extended from the north line of Marion County and contiguous counties to the Ohio River, and from Illinois on the west to Ohio on the east.

The second Bishop of Vincennes, by Apostolic Brief, was permitted to establish his residence either at Vincennes, Madison, Lafayette or Indianapolis; the See City, however, to remain at Vincennes. This permission was renewed to the fourth Bishop, with the exception of Lafayette.

On the appointment of the fifth Bishop, he was directed to fix his residence at Indianapolis, but the Cathedral and title of the See were continued at Vincennes. By an Apostolic Brief dated March 23, 1898, the title of the Diocese was changed to that of "Diocese of Indianapolis," with the Episcopal See in the city of Indianapolis. By the same Brief the Patron Saint of the Diocese is to remain St. Francis Xavier, the title of the old Cathedral, Vincennes.

On December 19, 1944, by the Executorial Decree of the Papal Delegate, Most Reverend Amleto Giovanni Cicognani, Archbishop of Laodicea, Apostolic Delegate to the United States of North America, the Papal Decree of Pope Pius XII was solemnly proclaimed in SS. Peter and Paul Cathedral, Indianapolis, elevating Indianapolis to the status of an Archdiocese, the State of Indiana being the Metropolitan Area. The Dioceses of Evansville and Lafayette in Indiana were created by the same decree and made Suffragan Sees of Indianapolis.

The Apostolic Decree of His Holiness, Pope Pius XII, creating the Archdiocese of Indianapolis, issued October 21, 1944. The Apostolic Decree of His Holiness, Pope Pius XII, elevating the Most Reverend Joseph E. Ritter as first Archbishop of the Province of Indianapolis, issued November 11, 1944. Both documents were transmitted to His Excellency, Archbishop Ritter, through the courtesy of the Most Reverend Michael J. Ready, D. D., Bishop of Columbus, Ohio, after the Solemn Consistory held in March, 1946.

Subject Matter

FALL CONFERENCE (1959)

I. Canon Law

John, Assistant in one of the parishes of the Diocese of X, travels outside his diocese to a penal institution in which terms are of relatively short duration, to visit a member of the parish confined there. When he has concluded his visit and is about to take his leave of the prison, he is met by the warden, a non-Catholic, who informs him that because of the shortage of priests, no chaplain is assigned there, and no priest has visited the institution for a number of months. The warden explains that he has written several letters to the Bishop of the Diocese, asking that a priest be appointed as chaplain of the institution, but all to no avail. Therefore, the warden has assembled the Catholics to give them an opportunity to go to confession while a priest is available. John knows, of course, that he does not have faculties in the Diocese, and that he has no way of obtaining them at the moment, even by telephone.

Shortly thereafter, he is faced with another jurisdictional problem. Father Peter, Pastor of the parish adjacent to the one to which John is assigned as Assistant, has scheduled a wedding and has everything in readiness for it. He is suddenly taken ill and rushed off to the hospital unconscious without any opportunity to make provision for someone else to take the wedding. John, who in this emergency has been called into Father Peter's parish to take care of him, since there is no Assistant in that parish, is asked by the people waiting for their wedding to go ahead with the ceremony. He tries by telephone to reach the Bishop or the Vicar General, but cannot do so. While he is still there, a couple of the Parish bring their baby in for Baptism; informed that Father Peter is sick, they ask Father John to baptize the baby.

In a few days, Father Peter, having regained consciousness, but feeling unequal to the task of any longer caring for a parish, with the consent of the Bishop, submits his resignation as Pastor, effective the first day of June, about two weeks away. The Bishop accepts the resignation as effective on that date, and appoints Father John vicarius oeconomus, effective on June 1, the same day as Father Peter's resignation. He also instructs Father John to reside in the meantime in Father Peter's parish and to take care of all the ordinary needs of the people until such time as his definite appointment as vicarius oeconomus becomes effective. Without further advertence to this whole arrangement, Father John assists at a marriage in that parish on May 30th. Since there is no reason for secrecy, he has casually mentioned to any number of the parishioners that he has been appointed as administrator of the parish, without particularly stating the date on which the appointment actually becomes effective.

COLLATIONES THEOLOGICAL

One problem of jurisdiction still besets this poor harassed priest. While serving as Assistant, he had been designated as the Ordinary Confessor for the sisters in Father Peter's parish. Now that he is actually residing there, he does not feel that he should continue to hear these confessions. He, therefore, asks the Pastor of the parish in which he is still juridically an Assistant, to instruct the other Assistant in the parish to take care of these confessions.

1. Give a brief resume of the pertinent Canon Law, regarding the faculties for hearing Confessions generally, the faculties for hearing the Confessions of women religious, and the requirement of jurisdiction (parochial and diocesan) or proper delegation for the valid assistance at marriage.
2. Discuss supplied jurisdiction (Canon 209), and the distinction between actual common error and potential (existimative) common error.
3. What may be said about the lawfulness of inducing common error, particularly with reference to John's being requested to hear Confessions in an institution outside his own diocese?
4. Would there be any way in which John could assist validly at the marriage first mentioned? Would Canon 209 have application here?
5. Could John lawfully baptize the baby as requested?
6. What can be said about the validity of the second marriage? Is Canon 209 applicable here? Discuss this from the standpoint of common error and of positive probable doubt.
7. Was the Pastor acting validly and lawfully in designating the other Assistant to take care of the Sisters' confessions in the place of John? Would it make any difference if the Pastor had himself been assigned to hear these confessions and appointed the Assistant to do it when he was legitimately called away? Does Canon 209 have application here? If so, in what way?

II. Pastoral Theology

The field of converts among non-Catholics in Mixed Marriages.

SPRING CONFERENCE (1960)

I. Moral Case

Henry, the Pastor of a small parish in a largely non-Catholic community, is much disturbed by the fact that one of the Protestant Churches in the neighborhood, with more facilities than he can possibly muster, has offered a well diversified and very attractive program of social events and sports for the teen-agers of the community, irrespective of their creed or color, and it has come to his attention that a rather large number of the young people of his own parish is participating in these events. Investigation assures him that no occasion is taken in these activities to preach or teach directly the tenets of the particular religion, which sponsors them or to wean the participants away from their own religion. Nevertheless, he fears that this frequent association with another religion may well result in the loss of their faith on the part of some of the young people of the parish. On the other hand, he is hesitant about speaking out publicly against such participation, for fear that he will be accused of unchristian bigotry, and also for fear that instead of achieving his purpose, he will simply make the program more attractive and more likely to lead his young people away from their parish, and perhaps and more likely to lead his young from their Faith. He then learns that among the young people a choral group is being formed, and that a concert of sacred and secular music is proposed for the near future, and he is quite sure that some of his parishioners will be part of that group.

Questions:

1. What are the general principles concerning "participatio in sacris"?
2. Do these principles apply in this present case? If so, to what extent?
3. What is to be said about the pastor's silence in this matter?
4. To what extent is he obliged publicly to take action?
5. To what extent privately in giving advice, must he take such action?
6. Does the formation of the choral group constitute any new problem for him?
7. What would be said if the pastor recommended that this choral group be under the auspices of some undenominational group, such as the Y.M.C.A., rather than under the church auspices?
